THE WHALING DIRECTORY

OF THE
UNITED STATES

IN 1869,

With the Signals of the Fleet Lithographed in Colors.

NEW BEDFORD:
TABER BROS., NO. 47 PURCHASE ST., AND 49 UNION STREET.
1869.

Entered according to Act of Congress in the year 1869, by TABER BROS.,
in the Clerk's Office of the District of Massachusetts.

PREFACE.

There needs to be little introduction to the present work. Apart from its practical uses as an easy book of reference for recognizing whalers at sea, it possesses an interesting feature as a catalogue of a fleet crippled but reviving. A comparison with its predecessor of ten years ago shows a startling change and a perceptible decrease, the entire tonnage of the whole fleet of the United States being hardly equal to that of the single customs district of New Bedford.

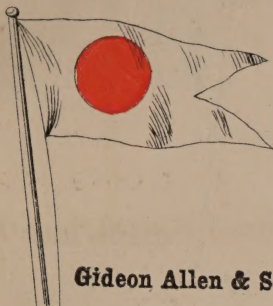

In presenting this edition, it has been the care of the publishers to be as accurate as possible in the case of all the owners on the Atlantic coast, as well as attempted on the Pacific, (which coming too late will be issued as an appendix to the present volume) thus embracing all the whaling vessels in the United States. Some of the Agents having but one vessel, the flag of that vessel has been inserted in the list of flags; and as in some instances the letter on the flag is changed for the initial letter in the name of each vessel, this is noticed in the plate as "Letter changed for each vessel."

Commending our book to the favorable consideration of its readers, and proffering the request that when any changes occur they may be forwarded to us as looking forward to another edition, we remain,

TABER BROS.

Imported by them directly from the best houses in London and Paris, and warranted the BEST IN THE MARKET.

The U. S. Supt. SIGNAL GLASS (Marine) is by far the best article yet introduced to supply the wants of Whalers.
Being made to pick up a small object in a large field in the topographical survey of the United States, they are especially excellent in detecting whales at sea. We would invite a careful inspection of this grade.
